THE SECRETARY OF STATE WASHINGTON

6-3-52.74

LIMITED OFFICIAL USE

June 20, 1963

Dear John:

The continuing need to improve the formulation and execution of United States foreign policy is a matter of deep interest to me and, I know, to you and your Agency as well. The way in which we meet this need clearly depends greatly upon the area of the world or the kind of problem with which we are dealing. In Africa the United States is confronted with rapidly changing internal conditions, readjustment of the old colonial relationship toward a new and more rewarding cooperative arrangement, long-term Soviet bloc activities and aspirations and the emergence of this continent as a more significant force in the world. As a consequence United States policy must deal with many variables. The need is therefore particularly great for full exchange of views and broad coordination of policy within the Federal Government. These twin tasks can, in my opinion, be promoted by the creation of an African Policy Committee. I therefore propose to establish such a committee, and I invite you to designate an appropriate senior official in your Department to be your representative. I have asked Assistant Secretary Williams to be its Chairman and to get in touch with your representative when he has been selected.

As you may know, we have thought that the Latin America Policy Committee has been helpful in evolving our policy in the Western Hemisphere, and with suitable adaptations I would expect that the African Committee could be similarly successful. Unlike many committees the Latin America Committee has succeeded in reducing some of the paper load we all carry, and because its members are prepared to speak for their agencies, it has helped to establish policy positions rapidly and to take action effectively. I think that these characteristics are extremely important, and I would expect the African Committee to emulate them. I know that your representative will play a very helpful role in making this effort a success.

I am

The Honorable
John A. McCone,
Director,
Central Intelligence Agency.

I am enclosing a brief background paper on the scope of this Committee. Since the group should be flexible in its approach, it will wish to consider this paper as indicative of its role, rather than as a rigid interpretation of its duties.

Sincerely,
